Welcome to Levant

Enter the sensuously flavoured world of Levant, situated in the heart of the bustling town of Bournemouth.

The Levant was a term used in France in the Middle Ages for geographic identification of Asia. It is broadly directional, referring to what had been previously been known as The Holy Land during the period of Crusades, and the littoral Eastern Mediterranean region associated with the European concept of Roman Palestine. The term corresponds to present day lands of Lebanon and Syria
